

Federal Treasury's Experience in Building Functional and Organizational Model and Staff Training

A.Yu. Demidov
Deputy Head of the Federal Treasury

FEDERAL TREASURY

www.roskazna.ru 1

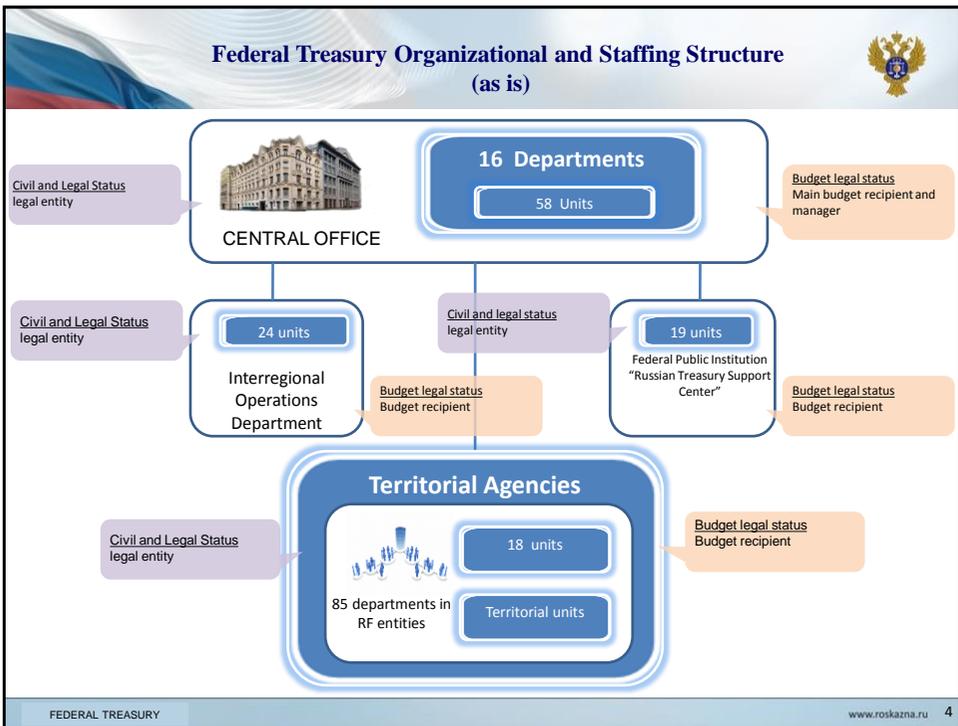

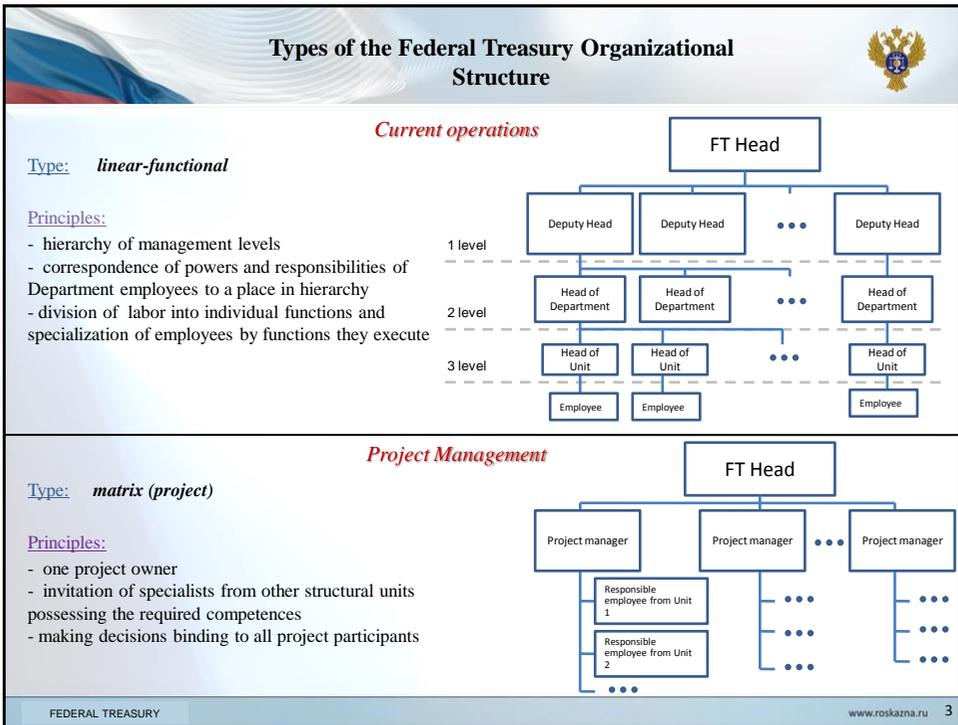

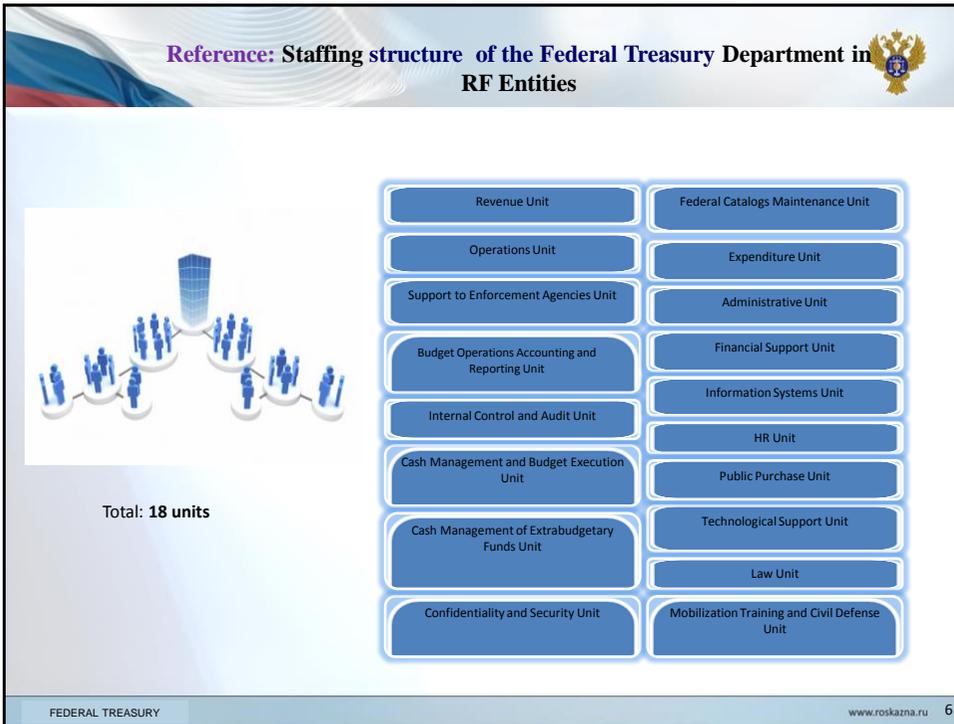

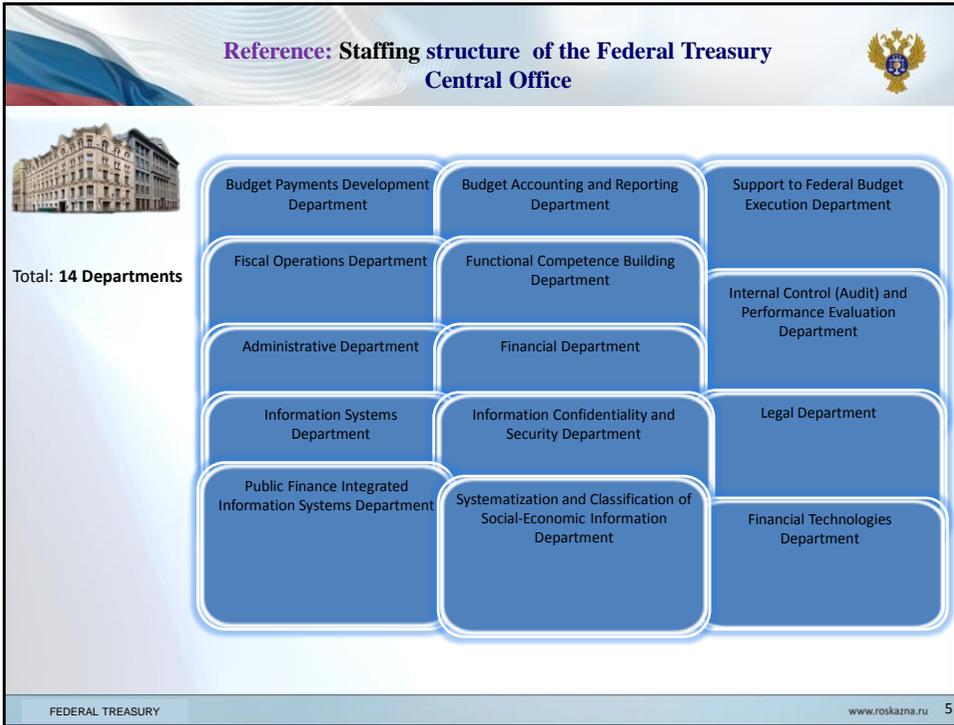

Content of the Presentation

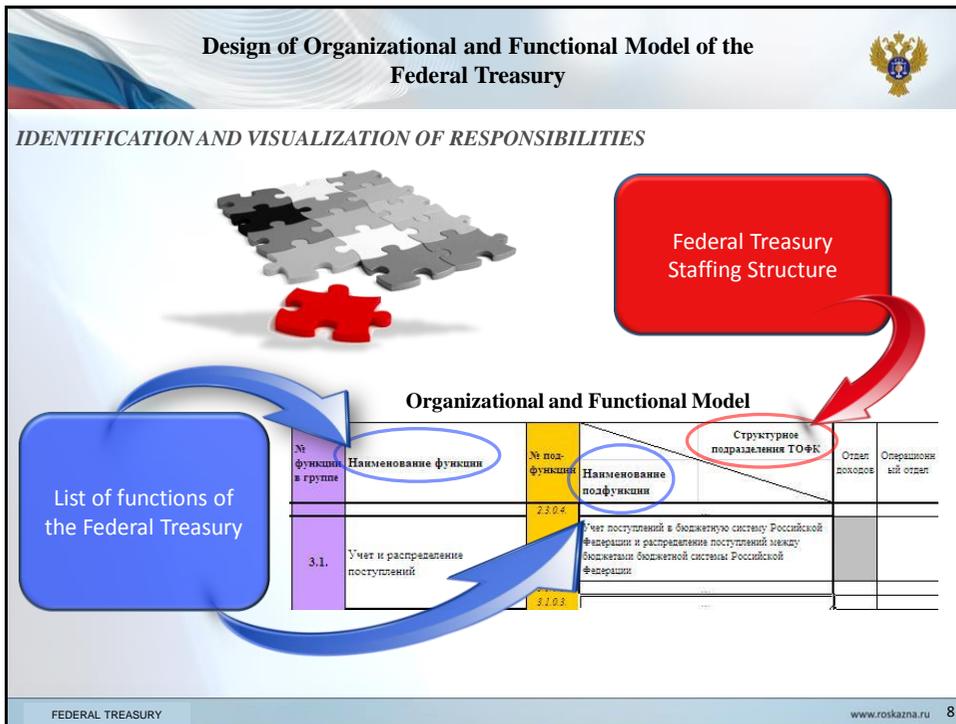

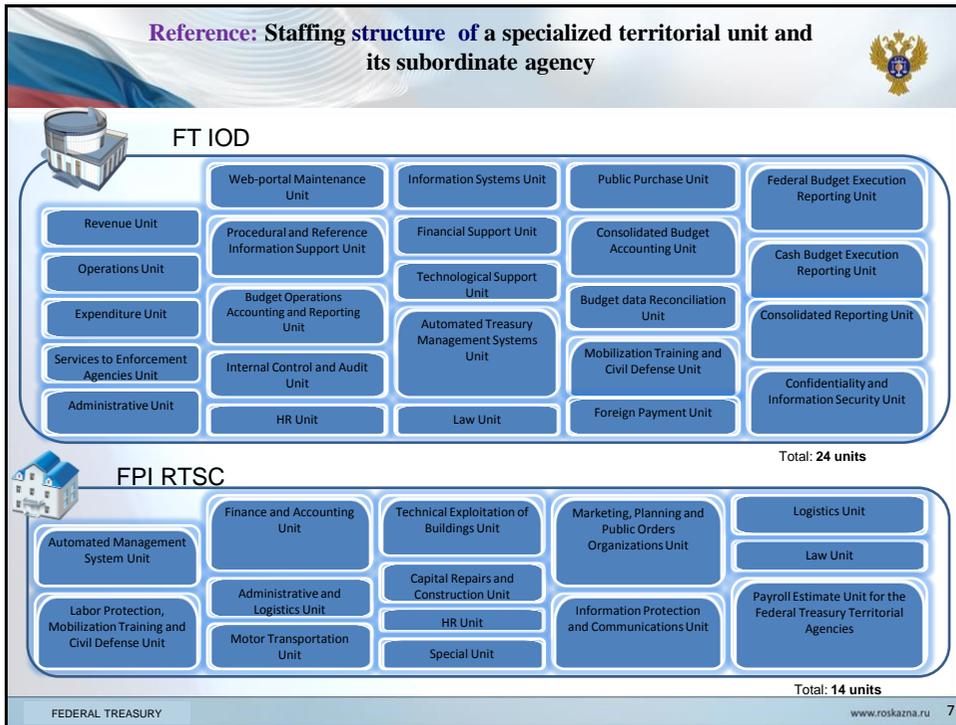

- I. Functional-Organizational Model of the Federal Treasury
 1. Types of the Federal Treasury organizational structure
 2. Federal Treasury organizational and staffing structure (as is)
 3. Design of Organizational and Functional Model of the Federal Treasury
 4. Federal Treasury Organizational and Functional Model (AS IS)
 5. Factors (Reasons) for Modernization
 6. Approaches to a New Organizational Structure of the Federal Treasury
 7. Roles of different organizational elements of the Federal Treasury in implementation of the e-Budget project
 8. Roles of e-Budget participants
 9. Federal Treasury Organizational and Functional Model (to be)
- II. Staff Training for the Treasury Territorial Agencies
 1. Types of professional training
 2. Forms of training
 3. Extended professional training programs
 4. Organization and implementation

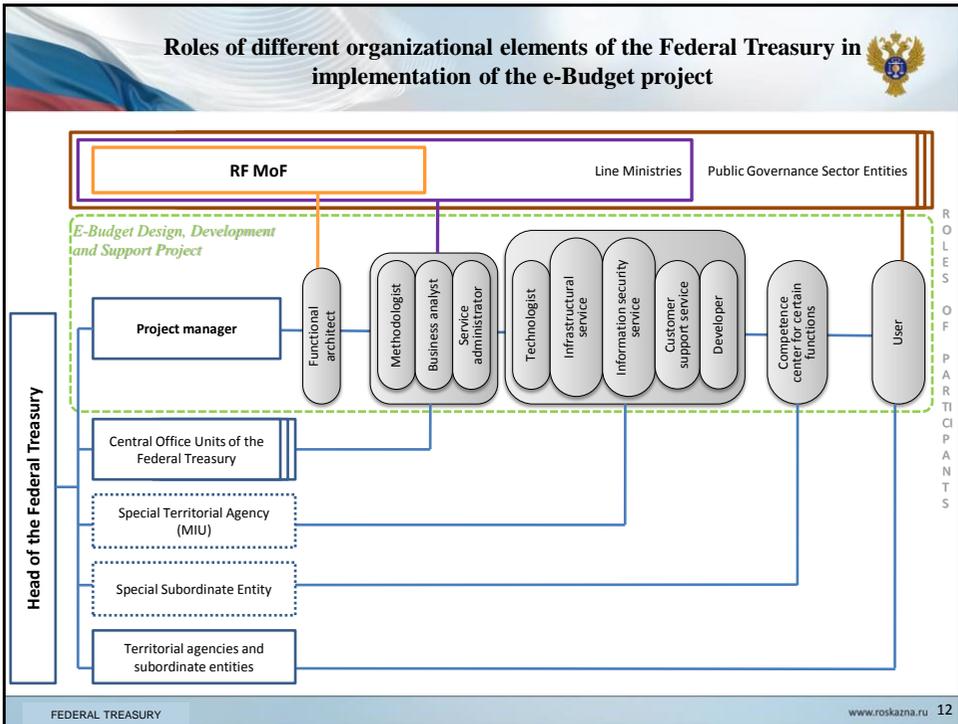

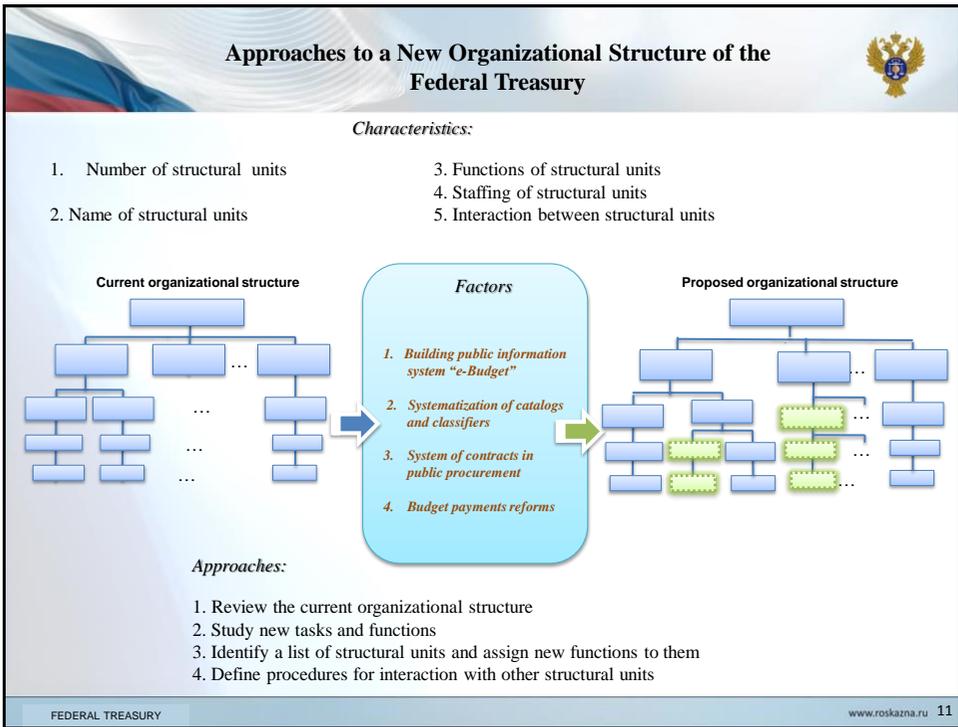

FEDERAL TREASURY

www.roskazna.ru 2

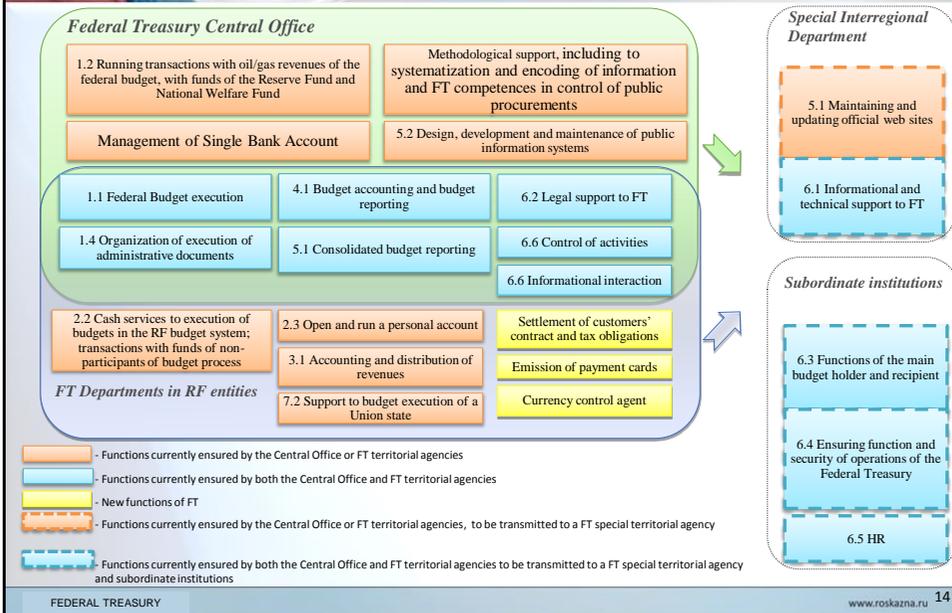

Roles of Participants in E-Budget Project

- Functional Architect: defines system requirements, coordinates formulation of requirements. Coordinates draft procedures and technical documentation.
- Methodologist: develops procedural documents (draft procedures).
- Business analyst: reviews procedures, develops business-processes. Formulates functional requirements to subsystems.
- Technologist: formulates technical requirements to the system (subsystems) in compliance with procedures and business-processes.
- Operator
- Infrastructural Service: ensures faultless function of software and hardware.
 - Customer support service: handles user requests.
 - Information security service : ensures security of system information.
 - Developer: develops subsystems, changes and fine-tunes software, develops technical documentation.
 - Service administrator: ensures methodological and organizational support (maintenance) of administered service.
- User
- User: an entity using the system to execute its functions.
 - Competence Center for certain functions : an entity using the system to execute some received functions.

Federal Treasury Organizational and Functional Model (to be)

Extended Professional Training

Professional re-training

Excellence training

When required

When required, but at least once in three years

Forms of training

Full-time, off the public service

Part-time

On-the-job, using distance learning technologies

for professional re-training and excellence training :

- Category "leaders", the highest rank group;
- Category "assistants (advisors)", main rank group;
- Category "leaders", "specialists", «supporting specialists», main and leading rank group;
- civil servants substituting other public service functions.

for professional re-training and excellence training :

- Category "leaders", the highest rank group;
- Category "assistants (advisors)", main rank group;
- Category "leaders", "specialists", «supporting specialists», main and leading rank group.

for professional re-training and excellence training :

- Category "leaders", the highest rank group.

Staff Training for the Treasury Territorial Agencies

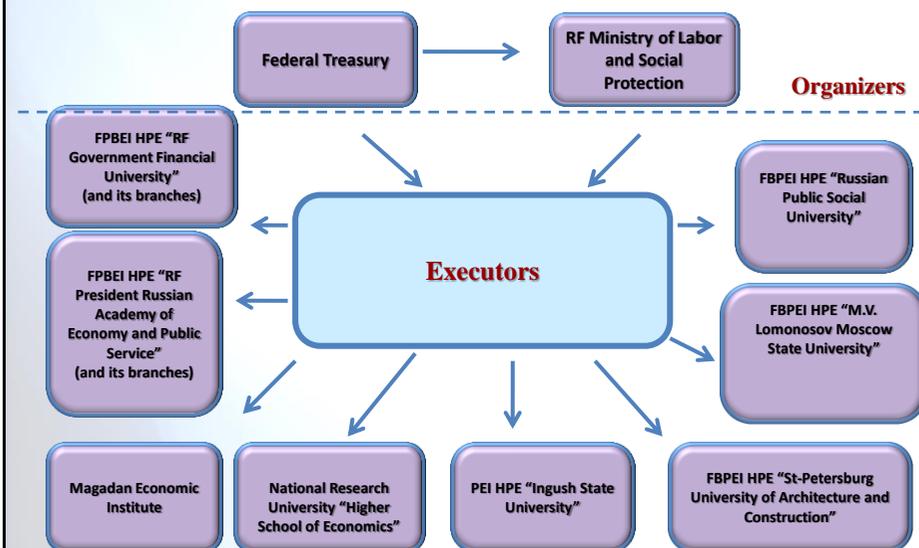

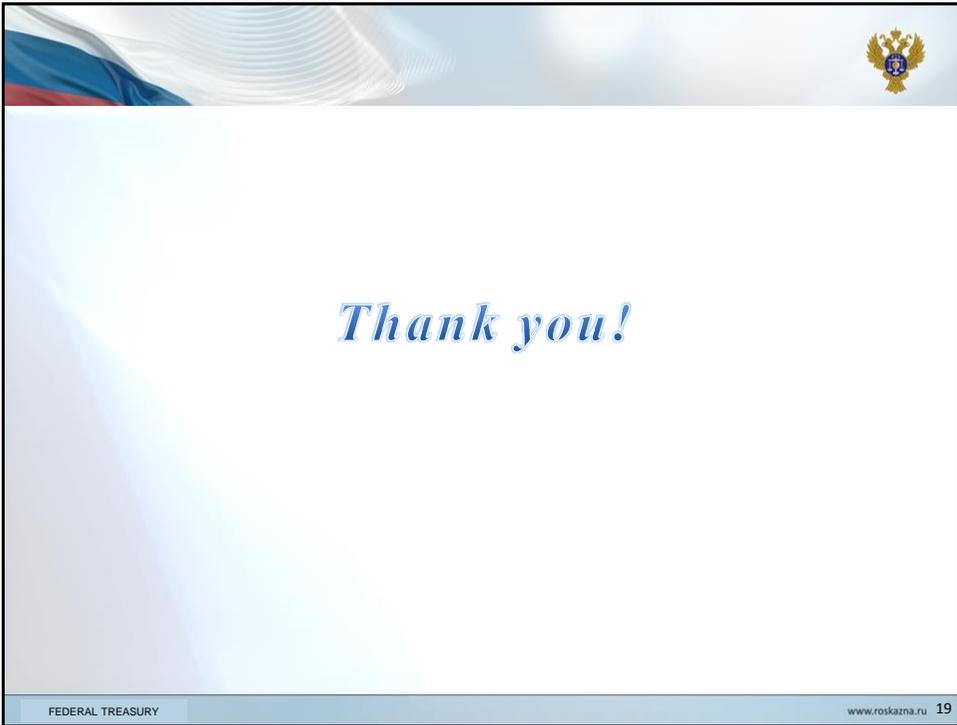

Extended professional education programs

- Public Finance Management
- Public Finance Control and Audit, International Standards of Financial Reporting in Public Sector, Specific Functions and Protection of Information Systems in the Federal Treasury
- Implementing new HR Technologies in Public Service
- Functions of the Federal Public Entities HR Service Units Relating to Prevention of Corruption and Other Offences

- WTO related Programs organized by the RF Ministry of Labor and Social Protection, including the issues related to association and participation of the Russian Federation in WTO and Customs Union (Russia, Kazakhstan, Belarus)
- Implementation of the Public National Policy
- Better Quality of Public Service Delivery
 - Legal Support
- Public Procurement Management
- How to deal with open data in public authorities

Staff Training for the Treasury Territorial Agencies

Thank you!